DIGITAL MODES:

On Monday night the regular SARC Digi Net met on the Lismore repeater at 8pm.

Joining Rob taking the call of VK2SRC were Leith VK2EA, John VK2JWA, Paul VK2PMG, Kris VK2MRN and Chris VK2ACD. After a couple of rounds of general discussion Leith and John said goodnight and Rob, Paul, Kris and Chris moved to the Woodburn repeater.

We decided to use MMSSTV and found that Kris did not have the program, so while we exchanged some pics Kris downloaded and installed it and had it working in a very short time.

All photos were good quality and well received, Paul has about a 1000 pics of NZ so he won't run out of good photo's in the near future.

Kris sent some interesting historical ones

We exchanged photo's using Scottie1 protocol and Chris sent some using PD120.

An explanation for how to forecast the weather

It was April and the Aboriginals in a remote part of Northern Australia asked their new elder if the coming winter was going to be cold or mild.

Since he was an elder in a modern community he had never been taught the old secrets. When he looked at the sky he couldn't tell what the winter was going to be like.

Nevertheless, to be on the safe side, he told his tribe that the winter was indeed going to be cold and that the members of the tribe should collect firewood to be prepared.

But being a practical leader, after several days he had an idea.

He walked out to the telephone booth on the highway, called the Bureau of Meteorology and asked, 'Is the coming winter in this area going to be cold?'

The meteorologist responded, 'It looks like this winter is going to be quite cold.'

So the elder went back to his people and told them to collect even more wood in order to be prepared.

A week later he called the Bureau of Meteorology again. 'Does it still look like it is going to be a very cold winter?'

The meteorologist again replied, 'Yes, it's going to be a very cold winter.'

The elder again went back to his community and ordered them to collect every scrap of firewood they could find.

Two weeks later the elder called the Bureau again. 'Are you absolutely sure that the winter is going to be very cold?' he asked.

'Absolutely,' the man replied. 'It's looking more and more like it is going to be one of the coldest winters ever.'

'How can you be so sure?' the elder asked.

The weatherman replied, 'Our satellites have reported that the Aboriginals in the north are collecting firewood like crazy, and that's always a sure sign.'
