Tuesday-Net Report

DIGITAL MODES

- Paul VK2AMT

TUESDAY FEBRUARY 08, 2022

Another week rolls around, another digi net. Tonight, joining Paul VK2AMT as VK2SRC, were Dave VK2ZDR, John VK2ZJJ, Jeff VK2WSR and Duncan VK2DLR. Andrew VK2AKK was [planning to join in but rig control problems left him receiving only. After a round of overs on Parrots Nest 2 metres, Duncan and Jeff joined me down the band to our old frequency of 144.230 USB.

This week we used MMSSTV. My own antennas weren't receiving very well, Duncan's and Jeff's were much better. Andrew received my first image, Jupiter, and you could see it was a planet but that was about it. Very snowy. The path to Andrew's location wasn't helping.

Continued...

The images Jeff and Duncan received showed the value of a clean low noise path, the photos were exceptionally clear. VHF USB however, is fine for our local area but not for areas more distant where HF is the best choice, noise and all. Thanks to all who participated.

Cheers from Paul VK2AMT (as VK2SRC)
